The Lawretanian: Visiting lecturer discusses moral quandaries in geoengineering

Report on a talk by Bjornar Egede-Nissen. "He admitted that there are some justifications of doing SRM research, including the cost-benefit analysis, the value of scientific research and the emergency options for SRM research. According to Egede-Nissen, the SRM can be comparatively cheap, but the long time-frame required and the side effects of doing SRM research can be cause for reconsideration."
