

30.01.2020

# Media

0 Comments

Climate Centre: Historic virtual hook-up between humanitarians and UN climate community

"A joint virtual event from COP 25 in Madrid and the 33rd International Conference of the Red Cross and Red Crescent in Geneva was held today aimed at raising ambition for greater action to address the humanitarian impacts of climate change."

LINK

Read more » Climate Centre: Historic virtual hook-up between humanitarians and UN climate community

28.06.2017

# Media

0 Comments

Carnegie Council: Humanitarians Hope for ‘Risk Management Framework’ on Geoengineering – a Carnegie Discussion

"In February 2017, I went to a panel discussion on geoengineering for the launch of the interdisciplinary Carnegie Climate Geoengineering Initiative and was impressed by the various perspectives on show. The initiative provides a space for nurturing resources to support the still-embryonic debate on the subject."

LINK

Read more » Carnegie Council: Humanitarians Hope for ‘Risk Management Framework’ on Geoengineering – a Carnegie Discussion

15.03.2013

# New Publications

0 Comments

Parson, E. A.; Keith, D. W. (2013): End the Deadlock on Governance of Geoengineering Research

Parson, E. A.; Keith, D. W. (2013): End the Deadlock on Governance of Geoengineering Research. In: Science 339 (6125), pp. 1278–1279. DOI 10.1126/science.1232527

"Can scientific self-regulation control small-scale research, or is governmental regulation needed?"

Link

Read more » Parson, E. A.; Keith, D. W. \(2013\): End the Deadlock on Governance of Geoengineering Research