Call for Attendance: Virtual Conference: Greenhouse Gas Removal and Civil Society

30 November 2019

"A global conference aiming to listen to differing perspectives on greenhouse gas removal technologies and techniques from within civil society with a particular focus on the youth, indigenous groups and other frontline communities. As these technologies and techniques are increasingly relied on, it is of vital importance the voices of civil society and those communities most affected are heard, and the diverse range of views and opinions are appreciated."
