

Kiel, 08. January 2021

E&E News: Mining the sky for CO<sub>2</sub> with metal trees, towers and pumps

"Extracting CO<sub>2</sub> from the air, where it is most diluted, might require three times the amount of energy needed to remove it from smokestacks. Lackner's ambition was to develop a "mechanical version" of how a tree consumes and stores the invisible, odorless gas."

LINK

Linked to: Carbon Capture and Storage , Carbon Dioxid Removal

0 Comments

Add a comment

You need to be logged in to add comments.