

Kiel, 08. July 2019

E&E News: Risks of Controversial Geoengineering Approach “May Be Overstated”

"Some scientists are finding fewer risks related to solar geoengineering than determined in earlier studies, adding emphasis to calls for a global body to monitor proposals that would inject substances into the upper atmosphere to reflect sunlight away from Earth."

LINK

Linked to: aerosols , Solar Radiation Management

0 Comments

Add a comment

You need to be logged in to add comments.