

Kiel, 16. October 2020

Grist: Carbon capture ‘moonshot’ moves closer as billions of dollars pour in

"In an eye-catching recent deal, a consortium including Amazon and Microsoft invested in CarbonCure Technologies, a Canadian firm seeking to slash the carbon dioxide emissions of concrete. Producing cement, the key ingredient in concrete, creates so much CO2 that if the industry were a country, only China and the United States would emit more over the course of a year."

LINK

Linked to: Carbon Capture and Storage

0 Comments

Add a comment

You need to be logged in to add comments.