

Kiel, 18. February 2019

Project Syndicate: Geoengineering is a Dangerous Distraction

"A growing number of people are now considering the once-unthinkable strategy of geoengineering our way out of the climate crisis. Proposed approaches vary widely, but all share a few key features: they are technologically uncertain, environmentally risky, and more likely to accelerate the climate crisis than to reverse it."

LINK

Linked to: Carbon Capture and Storage , Carbon Capture and Utilization , risks , Solar Radiation Management , uncertainties

0 Comments

Add a comment

You need to be logged in to add comments.