

Kiel, 11. March 2019

Project Syndicate: Governing Geoengineering

"New technologies to combat global warming could complement reductions in greenhouse-gas emissions. But their potential impact is highly uncertain, and failure to govern their use properly could aggravate existing threats to international peace and security."

LINK

Linked to: governance , uncertainties

0 Comments

Add a comment

You need to be logged in to add comments.