

Kiel, 14. January 2019

TechCrunch: Oil and gas giants Chevron and Occidental are backing tech to combat carbon emissions

"Carbon Engineering, a Canadian company developing technology to remove carbon dioxide from the atmosphere and process it for use in enhanced oil recovery or in the creation of new synthetic fuels, has locked in financing from two big industry backers — Chevron and Occidental Petroleum — to bring its products to market."

LINK

Linked to: air capture , Carbon Engineering

0 Comments

Add a comment

You need to be logged in to add comments.