

Kiel, 26. February 2014

The Cultural Cognition Project: Geoengineering & the cultural plasticity of climate change risk perceptions: Part I

"How the public will perceive geoengineering is fascinating for all kinds of reasons, but the one that I find the most intriguing is geoengineering's inversion of the usual cultural meanings of climate change risk."

Link

Linked to: Carbon Dioxid Removal

0 Comments

Add a comment

You need to be logged in to add comments.