

Kiel, 17. December 2012

the guardian: Creating clouds in the lab to better understand climate

"In an interview with Yale Environment 360, research leader Jasper Kirkby discusses the mysteries of clouds and why it's important to know if they are contributing to global warming"

Link

Linked to: tipping point

0 Comments

Add a comment

You need to be logged in to add comments.