

Kiel, 06. October 2016

Wired: To Help Cool the Climate, Add Aerosol

By David Keith and Gernot Wagner. "Aerosols, the fine particles in air pollution, reflect a small portion of sunlight back into space and, thus, actually help keep global warming in check. That's true despite the carbon dioxide emissions coming from the same smokestacks that warm the planet."

Link

Linked to: climate politics , Solar Radiation Management

0 Comments

Add a comment

You need to be logged in to add comments.